It's bizarre, and scary. Mike is concerned, we spoke earlier about this....glad AG is involved.

What "group" is he talking about, and how far can he go with these outrageous accusations and threats? He sounds unstable and angry. And I honestly do not know what ramras' conflict he's talking about- I do not read blogs.

Governor,
I shared this with the AG and asked him for his thoughts on this and the threat Rep Hawker is making.
Thought you needed to see this, not to ruin your day.
Mike

If the governor had any personal integrity she would publicly repudiate these people and their interference in Alaska's business with their ad hominem assaults whenever someone raises a legitimate state policy issue.
No one in this state believes that you do not control this crowd's strings. The media is onto this question and has been trying for a couple of weeks to get many of us on record about the governor's appearant connection with this crowd. It is only a matter of time before this one blows up in your face if she doesn't publicly denounce her national team's contract bloggers. How about Senate judiciary committee hearings, chaired by Hollis French, to investigate the connection between the governor, her National PAC and its laundered interference in Alaska political process? Just how close to illegal you are operating is a question everyone is interested in.
